The three-judge aginion of the court sold in part:
"The Constitution does not require integration. It marky facility dissipation."

The prised breed in Clinton, Tonn., complied fully with the Supreme Court's artist—it against its doors to everyone, frampostive of mor. Beyond that it did not need to go. A federal judge there, however, evidently feels that his injunction, estiming nebudy to "interfore" with "integration," covers also the acts and speeches of citizens and the distribution of sciented matter assentiere in the community autoide the school.

On Monday of last week an entracedinary thing hoppened in Clinton, Buyene Joyce, the County Attermay of Anderson County, at the seguest of the actions beard, made a speech in which he read this federal injunction to the secondical high achool students. The full tent of his remarks, as stanographically recorded, appear on page 30-81 of this issue. Cartain passages are startling. The County Attorney, for enample, said:

"To my imprinter in all of American history it has mover been measurery to read an instrument such anthis. a federal injunction, before an especially called seemsbly of a student body."

Mr. Jayor west on to say:

Questions have been saled of me and other law an-Sercement efficiels as to the enforced litty of this inus. I think the actions of the past few weeks or the past for days, particularly, speak in unmistalestile language that this injunction is unforceable.

"The other question so forquently mined in: Will this injunction apply to students under 21 or to acts imide the high-school building? The answer is that this isimedian has no limits: it applies to everyone, everyhere, he they miners, adults, inside or outside any building in this county."

Any reading of the text of the injunction confirms Mr. Jayee's view. It is in truth an injunction without limits. It covers every act and every speech or writing and every meeting of citizens in the community and county which a federal judge-without jury trial-may decide to premish as violative of the spirit or purpose of the injunction itself.

It is important to note, moreover, that the County Attorney told the students that, while the school principal would becomise expel "say attained that is guilty of misconduct," their troubles might not end there.

"They (the members of the Board of Education) have also instructed the famility to pass on to the Paderal Bureau of Investigation any actions on behalf of the students that might be construed as violative of the injunction."

What a means of intimidation this federal injunction turns out to be! In free America the begu and girls in a public high school are being taught, in effect, that State government has been skelliked, county government has been shellshed, and that an all-prise distanceship by the judiciony, acting upon "wide obtained through investigations made by the federal socret police, will now suggested the right of any citizen even to telle about segmention or integration.

The students in Clinton these are given a felic pietime of their own system of government. They are not templet that they have a sight to appear the or spirit separation or integration. Show and not tongict, moreover, that under the Bellevil Con the same of the sa or threat is a case for this band on the processing the late the State of Basesone intends to difficult all re-
